THANKS TO CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE MEMBERS

AT FORT MASON
CAPITAL CAMPAIGN

Walk inside Piers 2 and 3 today and you will be struck by the beauty of space, form and light created by the renovations just being completed. Gifts from many generous donors have made this transformation possible, and the gifts that continue to be made to the At-Fort-Mason Capital Campaign will bring additional major improvements to our facilities in 1988 and beyond.

Fort Mason Center is still a relatively young institution, having been open to the public for just over ten years. For this reason, it is particularly important to have experienced, respected and dedicated people on our Campaign Committee to effectively present our case to Bay Area and national funding sources. San Francisco is blessed with many exceptional civic and business leaders who share their time and expertise for the benefit of the community. One important reason that the Capital Campaign has thus far succeeded in raising over $4.5 million to accomplish its renovation program is the outstanding leadership provided by members of the Committee. We have been fortunate to have their enthusiastic participation.

We wish to recognize those who have told Fort Mason's story since our Campaign was launched in January of 1986. Led by Co-Chairmen Jerrold L. Kingsley and Myron Du Bain, the Committee has attracted broad-based support from foundations, corporations and individuals who have seen the importance of investing in Fort Mason's future through gifts designated for capital improvements. We are grateful to the Committee members who have given their time, ideas and effective advocacy on our behalf. We would especially like to thank those Committee members listed below for their generous participation.

A special word of thanks also goes to San Francisco Mayor Dianne Feinstein, who, as Honorary Chair for the Campaign, has given her complete support to our effort.

FMC YEAR-END REPORT

Dear Friends:

During 1987, Fort Mason Center's 10th Anniversary, the Center took major steps forward on a number of fronts, solidifying its position as an international model for converting surplus property to vital community use. In many ways, the successes of 1987 have been a clear statement to the community that Fort Mason's best days are still to come.

In 1977, when Fort Mason Center first opened its doors to the public, there was skepticism as to whether these abandoned piers and warehouses could be brought back to life. Furthermore, there were no models to which our Board and staff could turn for guidance in undertaking this imposing task. Nothing like this—on this scale—had been attempted before by nonprofit organizations.

Day by day and year by year we have all demonstrated what is possible when people with varied backgrounds, talents and interests contribute to a broad-based community project such as Fort Mason Center. A number of significant successes occurred in 1987, and it is with a great deal of pleasure and pride that we report on them.

AT-FORT-MASON CAPITAL CAMPAIGN
The Campaign approached $5 million on its way to a projected $6 million goal for 1988. Significant gifts and pledges in 1987 included those from The Koret Foundation, AT&T, The Gap, First Interstate, Mortimer Fleishhacker Foundation, Fireman's Fund, Levi Strauss Foundation, PG&E, and Arthur Rock. Also, Fort Mason Center was one of only two San Francisco institutions selected for the prestigious National Endowment for the Arts Challenge Grant Award. We received a $100,000 grant through this program, and will use the Challenge Grant to raise an additional $400,000 towards our renovation costs.

The outstanding work of our Campaign Committee is recognized elsewhere on this page.

THE FORT MASON PROGRAM
Only one new resident group joined the Fort Mason community in 1987, but it was a very exciting addition to our program. The San Francisco Craft & Folk Art Museum moved to the Center in March, and since then has offered several exciting exhibits, including "Hopi Art—A Century of Continuity & Change"; "Bay Currents: Clay & Glass"; and "Innerskins/Outerskins: Gut & Fishskin." The Museum has attracted much larger audiences than ever before. Their rapid growth here is testimony to the concept of grouping together outstanding nonprofit organizations.

California Tomorrow experienced a significant increase in the number of Fellows participating in their program and the number of public programs they have produced through print and electronic media.

Life On The Water and Magic Theatre accomplished major improvements in their theaters, while continuing to present the highest quality performance art and original productions in the Bay Area.

Media Alliance produced a highly successful event that recognized the significant contributions of a number of Bay Area "gadflies," and continued to expand their services to members, including workshops and meetings.

The Friends of the San Francisco Public Library expanded their booksale activities to three times per week, and raised $60,000 for the Library, part of which will be used to fund a study concerning the construction of a new public library.

San Francisco Community Recyclers expanded their recycling days from twice each month to six times each week, in response to the great support they have received from the public.

The San Francisco Blues Festival had its most successful year ever, attracting nearly 20,000 people to its two-day festival in September, featuring outstanding Zydeco, Chicago Blues, and West Coast music.

Last June Aid and Comfort brought together top San Francisco chefs in a spectacular fundraiser in Pier 3.

Aid and Comfort, a benefit to support the work of a number of AIDS organizations, raised $500,000 as a result of their one-night televised show from Pier 3 in June. It was the most successful fund-raiser in Fort Mason's history, and a spectacular show to which many Bay Area businesses and institutions contributed.

The Community College Art Center and the San Francisco Children's Art Center both saw their enrollment reach all-time highs, and their class offerings expand.

Greenpeace added a toxic waste program to its many other educational programs, and reached out to the broader community more effectively than they had in years.

Of course, with 500 organizations using Fort Mason Center each year, it is possible to mention the work of only a few. Our monthly Calendar tells a much fuller story of the diverse, exciting program that occurs at Fort Mason 365 days each year.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS
We hope you have been following the progress of the renovations to our piers during 1987. The Herbst Pavilion in Pier 2 was completed last year, as was the Festival Pavilion in Pier 3. Both now offer beautiful, well-equipped facilities for the dozens of major events that have occurred in both of our piers each year, and the new ones that the improved facilities will attract.

Also, renovations to create the 425-seat Cowell Theater in Pier 2 began in late 1987, and will be completed in August of this year. It promises to be one of the Bay Area's most exciting new performance spaces.

We all look forward in 1988 to the completion of the Cowell Theater, as well as the redesign and resurfacing of our parking lot. Continued success with our Capital Campaign will enable us to commence major improvements in our Landmark Buildings C and D, and to continue the process of bringing our facilities up to the same high quality as the organizations and activities that use them.

We hope 1988 will find you healthy and productive, and at Fort Mason Center many times.

Thank you for your interest and support.

In peace.

1/20-2/28 Happy Days by Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Samuel Beckett

• 20 WEDNESDAY
Happy Days Director Stan Gontarski, premier interpreter of Nobel & Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Samuel Beckett, returns to the Magic Theatre. In this powerful play Beckett has sketched a loving & comic portrait of Winnie, a woman in her twilight years, whose husband, Willie, is the primary source for all her "happy days." A monumental mound of earth envelopes the stage as well as Winnie, who is surrounded by her few remaining possessions. As her days are defined by her alarm clock, her happiness is defined by Willie's occasional breaks from his newspaper to speak to her. 1/20-2/28 Wed-Sat 8:30pm, Sun 2&7:30pm (previews: 1/13-16 & 1/19), $17-$10 FMC "Friends" $1 off w/mbrs card, Magic Theatre Bldg D 441-8822

Improvisation In African-American Quiltmaking Improvisation, pervasive in Black African art forms, was a vital force behind the quilt-making tradition of the African-American slaves. They used improvisational processes, such as "flexible patterning," which are virtually unknown in the European-American quiltmaking tradition. These techniques have survived through the generations and can be seen in this display of 24 quilts, many of which are the work of local quiltmakers. This exhibition constitutes the first recognition, celebration & explication of these improvisational African-American styles & techniques ever to be presented to the public. 12/31/87-2/28/88
